ORGANIZATIONAL SUMMARY:

The University of South Florida is a Carnegie Tier 1 Research-Extensive pre-eminent university serving over 48,000 students in the Tampa Bay area. USF Health is a comprehensive academic health sciences center comprising Colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, and Public Health, along with SPT&RS and Biomedical Sciences, which provide outstanding opportunities for collaboration and research. The USF SPT&RS academic environment is exceptional, with rigorous academic programs (DPT and post-professional Residency) and state-of-the-art teaching and research facilities/equipment. SPT&RS faculty are strongly committed to excellence in teaching, research, and service, which has been recognized through numerous national awards. The School's clinical faculty provide clinical services at the USF Physical Therapy Center in collaboration with other healthcare specialties. Numerous area hospitals and healthcare practices (including Florida Hospital System, James A. Haley VA Hospital, Lakeland Health, Moffitt Cancer Center, and Tampa General Hospital) offer clinical, educational, and research affiliations.

POSITION SUMMARY:

The USF Health School of Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Sciences (SPT&RS) invites qualified individuals for the Assistant Director of Research at the Associate/Professor level. This is a new 12-month, full-time (1.0 FTE) non-tenure or tenure-accruing faculty position and will remain open until filled. We seek an individual with experience in procuring extramural funding who wishes to continue their own line of research while leading the School's research mission. The position will be approximately 70% research/administration with other assignments (e.g., teaching, service) dependent upon the candidate's qualifications and the program's needs. Faculty rank, salary and start-up packages are highly competitive and commensurate with academic qualifications.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

Develop and administer a research program in a field related to physical therapy.

Seek and obtain extramural research funding.

Mentor junior tenure-accruing faculty in developing an independent and/or collaborative research agenda.

Work within the USF Health interprofessional academic setting of SPT&RS of the Morsani College of Medicine to expand research initiatives.

Administrative and leadership responsibilities within the USF SPT&RS (e.g., Research Committee Chair, member of the SPT&RS Leadership Team)

POSITION QUALIFICATIONS:

MINIMUM:

Entry-level degree in Physical Therapy (BS, MS, or DPT), PhD degree, or equivalent.

History of peer-reviewed publication and extramural funding.

Eligibility for Physical Therapy licensure in the State of Florida.

Minimum 5 years experience as a physical therapist and/or educator.

Description:

For appointment as Associate Professor: minimum 5 years full-time appointed academic experience at Assistant Professor rank.

For appointment as Professor: minimum 5 years full-time appointed academic experience at Associate Professor rank.

PREFERRED:

History of recent extramural research funding.

Documented experience and accomplishments in interprofessional research and academic endeavors.
