Job Information

The Department of Physical Therapy at Augusta University (formerly known as Medical College of Georgia) invites applications for a full-time, 12-month position as a core faculty member of the Doctor of Physical Therapy program, rank of Assistant/Associate Professor. Areas of teaching most desired include neurologic and/or orthopedic physical therapy, but applicants with expertise in other areas of instruction within the curriculum will be considered. Responsibilities will include teaching in the candidate's area of expertise, maintaining a productive scholarly agenda, and providing service as required by the department, college or university. Participation in a faculty practice environment is also available. Additionally, the successful applicant will have an opportunity to participate in the department's newly developing orthopedic and faculty residency programs. Tracks toward tenure or non-tenure are available and negotiable based on the candidate's credentials and experiences.

The position is now open and applications will be received until the position is filled. Start date is negotiable.

Minimum Qualifications for the position include:

Terminal academic degree (PhD/EdD) or equivalent degree in an area related to physical therapy or education from an institution recognized by the USDE as being regionally accredited.

Effective communication and interpersonal skills with diverse populations.

Ability to work in a collaborative, problem solving and flexible manner.

Preferred Qualifications for the position include:

Graduate of a CAPTE-accredited program in physical therapy

Licensed as a physical therapist in the US and eligible for licensure in the State of Georgia

Earned board certification in neurologic or orthopedic physical therapy (NCS, OCS)

Current member of the American Physical Therapy Association

About the Department and University

Description:

The Department of Physical Therapy is comprised of 12 faculty, each with a unique passion for going above and beyond to achieve student success, and are experienced teachers, researchers and service professionals. Founded by Dr. Bella May in 1970, the Department enjoys a rich history of being recognized as a leader in physical therapy education and research. The DPT program is housed in the College of Allied Health Sciences on the Augusta University Health Sciences campus. Augusta is the second-largest city in Georgia and recently ranked the second most favorable place to live in the state. Augusta University is a public research university and academic medical center composed of ten colleges and schools with an enrollment exceeding 8,800 students pursuing 147 different academic offerings. Augusta is within an easy three-hour drive of Atlanta, the University of Georgia, the ocean and the mountains. It is a growing and thriving city with a metropolitan-area population of around 400,000 and an annual mean temperature of 64 degrees. Lastly, Augusta is home to the Masters, the most prestigious golf tournament in the world.

How to Apply

All applications must be submitted through the Augusta University Human Resources Office. Follow this page to University Employment Opportunities:
